Rev. A. W. Burden Delivers Special Sermon at Odd Fellows' Service at the Federated Church—William Mc-Neely Dies Suddenly—Personals and Notes.

At the Federated church Sunday morning a special service was held for the members attending in a body. Rev.
A. W. Burden delivered the sermon taking for his subject "The Links That Bind." His text was taken from the 18th chapter of Sam. verses 3 and 4.
Rev. Mr. Burden said in part: "Fraternity has its blessing in the home and the community, and unless extreme care is taken its purpose and power will be defeated. Fraternity is built on esteem and respect. The three links are friendship, love and truth. The first link, friendship, which the chief necessity of society is not the material kind but the spiritual and makes one willing to help and give more to the man who is giving his life away from the right path. Love is the second link, and love is friendship overflowing friendship and finding an outlet in this higher quality called love. Love when broken up into its component parts will be found to be made of the nine essential elements of kindness, generosity, good-humility, courtesy, unselfishness, good temper, gentleness and sincerity. Love thinketh no evil. This brings us to the third link, which is truth.
Truth is the greatest of many virtues and is like the keystone of an arch, the absence of which lets everything depending on it fall like a house of cards. So it is with truth. The fundamental principles of fraternalism.

OBITUARY.

William McNeely.
The death of William McNeely occurred suddenly at his home in Boswell avenue Sunday evening about 7 o'clock as the result of acute indigestion. Mr. McNeely, who has been in

Rev. J. J. Smith Opens His School at New Haven.

The following is an extract from the Catholic Transcript about Rev. J. J.
Smith, a former pastor of St. Mary's church.

The fall term of St. Francis' parochial school, New Haven, began this morning with a registration of nearly one thousand pupils. The pastor, Rev.
James J. Smith, reminded his parishioners on Sunday that their generosity in maintaining a Catholic school for their children means a heavy burden, but that the advantage accruing to offspring was one that could scarcely be estimated. By the provision of the RALLY DAY AT FIRST BAPTIST

Mayor Allyn L. Brown Addressed Sunday School on Purpose and Service—Diplomas Presented Graduates in Beginners, Primary and Junior Departments—Prizes Awarded Winners of Original Letter Contest.

The annual Rally Day service of the First Baptist church was held on Sunday morning. The church was bright and attractive in its decoration of brilliant fall flowers. William Douglas, the organist, assisted by Robert Otis, cornetist, and Frank Benson, violinist, rendered a special musical program. The church tendered the anthems, Blow Ye the Trumpets, with cornet obligato and March of the Christian Soldiers. For the offertory open the door, To a Wild Rose was well rendered by Mr. Benson. A pleasing part of the service was the singing in unison of the 121st Psalm by the Junior department of the school.

In the Rally Day message, the pastor, Rev. George H. Strouse, spoke as follows: Upon the Lure of the Best Two passages of Scripture I have chosen for the basis of this Rally Day address.

The first is in Deuteronomy and reads thus: "Ye have compassed this mountain long enough." The other passage is in 2nd Cor. and is as follows: "The things that are not seen are eternal."

There are some good things in life, but there are some better things and then there are the best and I invite your attention to the best.

A little more than two years ago the armies of Europe met. There was a reason. Perhaps not a rational reason but a reason. What had happened? A dam had burst and a great sea of humankind poured forth, threatening to engulf all Europe. Then the armies were mobilized to stem the oncoming flood, for each nation believed the other threatened nothing less than annihilation.

Church Must Mobilize Forces Great hatred and materialism had been pumped into the sea until the dam could stand the pressure no longer.
To counteract this destructive flood which in the means confined to Europe, it is necessary for the church to mobilize all her forces and open the flood gates of God's boundless sea of love until it fills every sea and bay, river and harbor of humanity. Is the task herculean? Is the goal beyond our grasp? I want to present an objective high enough not only to enlist your sympathies but your active cooperation.

I invite you to rally around a great personality, a righteous cause, and the certainty of a glorious conquest.
Momentous happenings, revolutionary epochs, the march of history center around strong personalities.
The Exodus centers about Moses.
The mighty movements launched from the desert, the march of the world earthworn Asiatic monarch and spreader of Greek thought throughout Asia centered about Alexander. The Christian era of the first century about the very foundations of the Roman empire and in less than four centuries made it possible for a Christian to climb the summit of the world's highest peak for its center the great and courageous Paul. To be sure Christ was the heart of this movement, but Paul was the organism.

Think of Napoleon returning to France and as he passes through the villages and towns, old soldiers and young with their rifles and powder personalities. He becomes their leader and once more sways the scepter over France.

"Face the Other Way." There's a fine description of Sheridan's ride in the Shenandoah valley.
On the morning of Oct. 19, 1864, the Confederates had planned a sudden attack. It was a foggy morning and before the break of day the storm burst with appalling fury on the suspecting foe. Sheridan had been in Washington but that was in Winchester, twenty miles from Cedar Creek. Sheridan heard of the as he rode along but was unconscious of the danger. Soon he saw the soldiers in mud and blood and there was no time for delay. He rode forward swinging his hat and shouting, "Face the other way, boys! We are going back to the front. We are going to fight. We are going to fight. We are going to fight. We are going to fight." The whole army in full retreat but the full major-general's uniform and mounted on a beautiful black charger.
He rode through the ranks of the commander and took up the cry "Face the other way." Sheridan's great personality turned defeat into victory. But around a Personality that far transcends any of these already mentioned. I ask you to rally.

You think of Napoleon's military genius and say Jesus has all that plus a lot more. The scheme of his life included a world-wide empire.
You think of Shakespeare's imagination, his ability, his genius, his more. He sweeps the centuries with the telescope of his imagination and beholds a great company which no man can number, saved by his redeeming

Y. M. C. A. CHINESE WORK DESCRIBED AT FIRST CHURCH

Rev. Robert Clark Tells of Growth of Missions Problems to be Met and Solved.

Rev. Robert Clark, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., in Pootung-fu, North China, gave a most interesting address Sunday morning at the First Congregational church. It was in 1907 that the first missionary, Robert Macdonald, arrived in China. He said the first converts were among the poor and ignorant, the only hearing of the missionaries could get. A body of men educated in mission schools slowly grew up. Among the leaders of a mission school are found. The story was told of one from these schools who had been called by the new ruler of China two months ago to be president of the newly organized senate, from his former place as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in China.

The literati who held almost all the power are self satisfied despising all who do not know Chinese education. Among the officials and educated, before the Boxer rising, the Christians were ignored as it was felt that this movement though not bad in any way affected them or their families. After the uprising there was a reaction; they were profoundly impressed by the way the students met death. They knew all the power of foreign soldiers, they realized that the door could not be closed on Western civilization. So they went to the Christian missionaries and the missionaries found that they had new problems to face in teaching the Chinese class. So they put this work into the hands of the Y. M.
C. A. whom they called to their aid.

One branch of the Y. M. C. A. work in China is to find and train secretaries, another is to have the student work for Christian ministers.
Most of the work among government students is by the thirty city associations. This work is similar to yours the speaker said; religious, education all athletic. Every one who commends an association has an opportunity to enter a Bible class; we try to enter two years to give the name of each to a certain church where he may be helped.

In Pootung-fu where your pastor was located, the American Board mission north, in the city. These missions unite for work in the city. Very little had been done for the education of the students had a great desire to enter the Bible class. The Y. M.
C. A. was organized from these Bible classes, of which I am secretary. We were working in an old Chinese inn.
Here in the evening we teach 50 young men. We reach over one thousand men through the athletics. Through all our work we try to keep the spirit of Christ in the hearts of the young Chinese we may find him of whom Christ spoke when He said, I was hungry, I was sick and in prison, We need your help, money, most of all your prayers. If you actually hold us up in prayer, it is of infinite help on the foreign field.

On Saturday evening Miss Flora Post, who has had charge of the kodak and photographic supply department at the Y. M. C. A. in Pootung-fu, was with the company, having resigned to accept a position in the office of the Norwich Belt Manufacturing company.
She had succeeded by William C.
Kendall, the well known photographer.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killington, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband.

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discouraged with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed.
One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L.
